Helping Hand
Homeownership Opportunities for People with Disabilities

Housing individuals with disabilities

Owning a home is a goal for many New Mexico families. But there are often obstacles, like saving enough money to make the down payment or having a monthly payment they can comfortably afford over the long term. MFA’s Helping Hand Program provides an affordable way to buy your first home.

Helping Hand provides down payment and closing cost assistance to low-income families in which at least one family member has an ADA disability. The program provides an $8,000 “soft second” mortgage loan at 0 percent interest and does not require a monthly payment.

The Helping Hand loan does not need to be paid back until the property is sold, refinanced, or transferred. It is available to first-time homebuyers, which is defined as not having owned and occupied a primary residence for the past three years.

Many types of first mortgage loan products may be used in conjunction with the Helping Hand program. These include USDA Rural Development guarantee, direct, and leveraged loans; FHA, VA, Fannie Mae’s (“FNMA”) MyCommunity™, HFA Preferred™ suite of products, Fannie Mae’s HomeChoice program as well as the HUD Section 184 Indian Housing Program.

A Helping Hand loan is combined with a competitive rate first mortgage loan. It can offset many up front costs related to the purchase of a home including down payment, closing costs and interest rate buy downs.

How do I qualify?

Household income must fall within specific limits that are determined by family size and geographic location. Acquisition cost limits also apply. Please refer to the following household income and acquisition cost limit tables for further information.

In order to qualify for a Helping Hand loan, you must receive face-to-face first-time homebuyer counseling before you purchase your home. The homebuyer counseling is paid for by the MFA and available through the Independent Living Resource Center, Housing Division. Contact the Independent Living Resource Center by calling: 505-266-5022 or 800-260-5022.

An MFA participating lender can determine if you are eligible for a Helping Hand loan. In addition, the lender can explain the various first mortgage programs that can be paired with the Helping Hand program and will help you decide which program would work best for you.

A list of participating lenders appears on the reverse side of this fact sheet.
